Welcome to NatureAware Tableware Crafting Tomorrow's Tableware Today:

At NatureAware Tableware, we are on a mission to redefine the way we think about tableware. As passionate advocates for a sustainable future, we've dedicated ourselves to crafting high quality, eco friendly tableware made from bagasse a renewable esource that not only transforms your dining experience but also contributes to a healthier planet. In addition to that, the fibrous residue that remains after sugarcane stalks are crushed to extract their juice. Bagasse is a byproduct of the sugar industry and is often considered waste, but it can be repurposed to create various products, including plates, bowls, cups, and containers.

Vision

Our vision is to lead globally in sustainable tableware, revolutionizing the industry through innovative and eco-friendly solutions.

NatureAware tableware plays a pivotal role in fostering environmental sustainability and lessening the ecological footprint linked to conventional disposable tableware.

The positive contributions of NatureAware tableware to the planet include biodegradability, diminished plastic pollution, PFAS free - composition, reliance on renewable resources, waste reduction, a lower carbon footprint, promotion of a circular economy, and advocacy for sustainable agriculture.

Mission

Our mission is to create and produce food packaging solutions that combine practicality and aesthetic appeal with a strong commitment to sustainability and environmental friendliness. We are dedicated to fostering a circular economy through the utilization of recyclable or compostable materials, minimizing waste, and actively contributing to the overall health of our planet.
